WHO'S THE JEWELLERY DESIGNER THAT FASHION PEOPLE ARE TALKING ABOUT NOW?

It's Montréal's Barbara Stutman. She presented her first collection of "fashion-oriented" jewellery last fall and instantly established herself as one of our best and most exciting designers. Stutman says her work has a "primitive feel to it," and that she is inspired by "the arts and crafts of different cultures, fashion and travel. My designs are not familiar, safe or comfortable for many, but are for the individual, someone who is interested in experimenting in new visual forms. But they're not too serious; there's a sense of humor and drama in them, too." Stutman's pieces range in price from $40 to $150, although her new collection will include some less expensive materials such as suede, hemp and wool. Buy Barbara Stutman jewellery if you want pieces that are bold, sculptural and textural, that run parallel to the most innovative fashion, and that are to be cherished first as art and then as accessories.
